

VESPER

ARMCHAIR

design Atelier D.Q.

2026

As day exhales and twilight settles, shadows stretch across the room. Observe the silhouette cast against a quiet wall. A solid crescent floats above slender lines. The projection announces the rise of VESPER—the evening star—capturing the precise equilibrium where light and dark merge. Step forward, and the physical reality of the armchair emerges. Bare steel rods carry the weight, allowing the upholstered backrest and the wooden frame to appear almost weightless. Architectural poise unites contrasting materials into profound balance.

This unity is anchored by a meticulous finish. Look closely at the precision-stitched welting that frames beautifully gathered folds, shaped by the artisan's hand. Every carefully tensioned curve holds the memory of craftsmen in Fukuoka, a quiet testament to an object conceived and created in Japan. This masterful tailoring alone imbues the armchair with unspoken rarity. Sit, and the visual interplay dissolves into deep physical composure. Instead of conventional armrests, the upholstered crescent gently extends forward in a continuous, welcoming embrace. Posture naturally relaxes into the curve. As your fingers trace the tailored welting and organically gathered folds, the spirit of centuries-old Japanese craftsmanship grounds you in the present moment.

Through years of shared evenings, the wood and your chosen leather or fabric will absorb the rhythm of your life. A living object suspended on steel, aging beautifully while holding you in enduring equilibrium.
